

DESCRIPTION BEGINS IN THE
WRITERS IMAGINATION, BUT SHOULD FINISH IN THE READER'S.
STEPHEN KING

Writers reveal their characters by describing their physical characteristics, behaviors and mannerism, effect on others, and dialogue.

What do you see?

Choose two-three of these people and Write a paragraph each.

• Describe the person in as much detail as you can:

Entry 9

Based on their physical description

1. What's going on in their lives?
2. Physical description you notice clothing/face/hair
3. What do you think they're thinking? What are they going through?
4. How do they feel?
5. What do you think other people think of them?
6. What do they think of other people?
7. What is their background story?
8. What do they do for a living?
9. What are their behavioral characteristics/mannerisms?

Homework:

- Now, do the same thing, but write about people you know.
- Chose one friend person in your life: friend, family member, etc., and write about them in the same way you wrote about the people you chose.
- Also, write about yourself in the same way.